

University of Colorado
Department of Economics

Spring 2009

Microeconomic Principles 2010-200, T-Th 11:00-12:15pm, Humanities 250

P. Graves

Content:

Microeconomic principles 2010 introduces you to the "economic way of thinking." The central fact

http://www.colorado.edu/policies/fac\_relig.html

4) Students and faculty each have responsibility for maintaining an appropriate learning environmen know it].

8) Have you worked on your self-confidence? [B

Note: we will do this material a bit differently from the book. Preference assumptions. Utility and the law o